To whom it may concern:

This reference letter is written on behalf of Zlatko Anguelov, who was hired as an Editor by the Joint Office for Marketing and Communications in July 1999. The Office serves University of Iowa Health Care, a partnership between University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics and University of Iowa College of Medicine.

Zlatko's responsibilities have been diverse and his involvement in communications and marketing projects extensive. He has been particularly active in the area of physician relations, most notably as creator and editor of Currents, an award-winning quarterly magazine targeted to practicing physicians in Iowa and adjoining states. Feedback about Currents from physician readers has been uniformly positive and supportive. Part of Zlatko's responsibility with Currents involved a continuing education section that made it possible for physicians to earn C.M.E. credits by answering questions written (and evaluated) by him. Zlatko also helped create, write, and edit UI Connect, a bi-annual publication designed to demonstrate the value and worth of UI Hospitals and Clinics to a targeted audience of payors and employers. Other projects managed by him have ranged from departmental brochures to communications/marketing support for various hospital departments and services.

During his employment with UI Health Care, Zlatko has been a stickler for detail, a quality communicator who is especially adept at writing and editing technical pieces of interest to physicians. He is cooperative, contributes many ideas, and is a respected colleague. Zlatko is responsible, motivated, and very professional in his work. His extensive knowledge of medicine has been a valuable resource to his office colleagues.

As his immediate supervisor, I would be happy to speak further about Zlatko's qualifications and work experiences with University of Iowa Health Care. I can be reached at 319-356-7123 or michael-sondergard@uiowa.edu.
