RE: Dr. Zlatko Anguelov

To Whom It May Concern:

It is with great pleasure and enthusiasm that I write this letter of recommendation and support for Dr. Zlatko Anguelov who is seeking employment in the field of medical journalism.

I have known Zlatko since 1999 and have worked very closely with him as he developed the award winning and highly regarded Currents publication at University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics. As Chief-of-Staff at UIHC, I was responsible for a quarterly column for Currents and I'll be forever grateful to Zlatko, whose professional collaboration made my work easy. Zlatko was the spiritual and organizational father of Currents at UIHC. His hard work, creativity, and superb writing and organizational skills led to Currents winning awards of distinction from various publishing organizations for three straight years from 2001 to 2003. Zlatko's never-ending energy, imagination and editorial skill have had a major impact on UIHC. Unfortunately, due to budgetary considerations, it has become necessary to close his position and we must lose a valued colleague.

As shown on his web-site www.antipropaganda.net/medicalwriting.html, Zlatko is a very bright, broadly based, internationally experienced and accomplished person. He has earned the MD degree (1972) and the MA degree (Medical Sociology, 1995). In the course of his professional career he has functioned successfully in medical academics as a doctor, as a professor of anatomy and histology, as a medical administrator, and as a medical researcher, educator, author, and editor. He has worked in the pharmaceutical industry gaining experience in drug promotion and education, clinical trials, and marketing analysis. He has lived in and experienced three countries and written a thoughtful memoir based on his early years in Bulgaria.

It's very clear to me that Zlatko has successfully demonstrated skills and a depth of experience in medicine, medical science and medical writing that will make him a valuable employee in many medical or pharmaceutical, academic, or publishing settings. I can recommend him highly and without reservation as an individual who would be not only an outstanding professional addition to your staff, but also a good colleague who would quickly prove his value.
